Casa Turquesa

Casa Turquesa is a charming two-storey 18th century historic house located in the colonial centre of Paraty.

Casa Turquesa, designed by Renato Tavoraro, offers nine comfortable and beautifully decorated guest rooms and suites. From many of the balconies there are wonderful views of the bay, the famous rooftops of Paraty, the mountains and the dome of the church of Santa Rita - the town's oldest religious building. Casa Turquesa has an internal courtyard, a garden, a swimming pool equipped with jacuzzi, a bar and cellar. The main house also has a reading room and a small fireplace for cooler days in winter.
